The course will cover the following topics:

- accident preparation
- management of safety
- risk assessment
- responsibilities of employers and employees
- common causes of incidents
- the importance of design to safety

The course culminates in an examination of thirty multiple choice questions that are marked externally.

You are encouraged to discuss your participation with your Area Committee as funding may be available.

Francis Wallington, the course leader has many years experience of delivering a wide range of courses in Plus and industry.

Participants are strongly advised to seek overnight accommodation locally to enable a prompt start. Make a weekend of it and explore the Midlands.

Hope to see you all there.

Best wishes
